

Application Form for Corporate Members

Date

The Federation of European National Statistical Societies (FENStatS) is an independent European scientific organisation with non-profit and non-political motives. The seat of the association is in Luxembourg. (Art. 1 of the Statutes - <http://fenstats.eu/statutes> )

Members of the Federation are European National Statistical Societies and Corporate Members. Institutions that are not European National Statistical Societies (like the European Statistical Office, or any other institution dealing with or interested in statistics) may become corporate Members of FENStatS. A formal request should be sent to the Secretary General.

The General Assembly has the authority to accept a new Member with a majority of two-thirds. The application for membership completed with the information on the size of the new society and its internal structure, must be distributed to the General Assembly at least three weeks before the voting procedure takes place. (Art. 3)

The General Assembly represents the entirety of all Members and is the highest authority of the Federation. The General Assembly is made up of individuals each acting on behalf of one Member Society or representing a Corporate Member. Representatives are formally notified to the Executive Committee. (Art. 5)
